3. Rhetoric analysis and SPACE CAT

(1) What is Rhetoric

Rhetoric is the art of effective or persuasion writing or speaking, especially using figures of speech or other techniques.

(2)What is SPACE CAT

SPACE CAT is an abbreviation for an annotation technique that can help us in the Final Exam. It is helpful for the essay section and also the annotation of the reading section.

(3)What does each letter stand for

S: SPEAKER, who is the speaker? What do we know about them? What information do you have to let you understand the speaker?

P: PURPOSE, what is the speaker/writer hoping to accomplish? What is the reason behind this piece? What do they want the audience to do after having listened?

A: AUDIENCE, who is the speaker/writer trying to reach? How do we know? Do they indicate a specific audience? What assumptions exist in the text about the intended audience?

C: CONTEXT, what is the time and place of this piece? What is happening in the world as it relates to the subject of the speech or the speaker/writer?

E: EXIGENCE, what was the spark or catalyst that moved the speaker/writer to act/write? How did that event impact the speaker/writer?

C: CHOICES, what are the rhetorical choices that the speaker/writer makes in the speech? Think about overall structure, devices, diction, syntax, etc.

A: APPEALS, which of the three rhetorical appeals (ethos, logos, pathos) are present in the text? Where? Why?

T: TONE, what is the speaker/authors attitude toward the subject? Is the tone the same throughout the whole piece? Where does it shift? What evidence is there to demonstrate the tone?

(4)Annotation

When annotating the context, use the shorter version of SPACE CAT, QCAT, which Q stands for quote. In addition to this, remember not to write too much; otherwise, you will run out of time.

Therefore, use bullet points when you are annotating. Most importantly, do not just simply underline / highlight things! YOU WILL NOT GET POINTS FOR THAT!

4. Grammar

(1)Relative Clauses

Relative Clauses are phrases in a sentence to give extra information.

Example: Ronan, who is a boy, likes playing football (in which “who is a boy” is the relative clause)

(2)Relative Pronouns

Relative Pronouns are the Pronouns in the Relative Clause. Common Relative Pronouns include: Who, Which, That, Where.

(3)Types of Relative Clauses

1. Essential and Non-essential relative clauses

Essential clauses are clauses needed for the sentence meaning.

Example: Tea that is caffeinated keeps me up at night.

Non-essential clauses are just the other way around, they are not needed for sentence meaning, just addition.

2. Formal and Informal relative clauses

A formal relative clause is when you put the preposition (small grammar words like to, for, about) before the relative pronoun

Example: Was that the restaurant to which we normally go?

An Informal relative clause is just the other way around, you put the preposition after the relative pronoun.
